

After reading the many comments and studies on BPL and its interference with the HF radio spectrum, it behooves me that anyone within the FCC would even consider it. I listen to the BBC for my news just because of the bias and grandstanding of american news agencies. Taking away my news link so big business can profit even more is un-imaginable and un-american. Big business has already taken too much and hasn't given anything back. It's time Americans took back their country and put an end to this high priced thievery.
